In Retrospect

The dinosaur has left his giant spoor upon the rocks of Colorado. Time was when crocodiles were native here. The earth once thundered to the mammoth's tread.

Man came quite late -- some twenty thousand years ago -- and left upon our eastern plains a few chipped points to tantalize the experts. The first white men to enter the region were the Spanish explorers who gave to almost every mountain and stream in southern Colorado the name it bears today.

At the turn of the 19th century many famous Americans came into the vast region. Among these trail-blazers were Major Stephen Long, Colonel John C. Fremont, Captain J. W. Gunnison, and General Zebulon Pike. In 1806 Pike discovered the famous mountain that now bears his name.

Three years before Pike made his claim on the renowned peak, the United States purchased the Louisiana Territory from France. The northeastern half of Colorado was included in this famous purchase. The rest of Colorado was bought from Texas in 1850.

The discovery of gold near Denver in 1858 brought not only miners, merchants, land-promoters and gamblers across the plains, but also many famous missionaries. In 1868 the Rev. Charles Machbeuf became the first bishop of Colorado. Five years earlier he had started the first Catholic school near Denver. By the time of the death of the zealous bishop in 1889 the Catholic population had grown to 40,000.

Our own city of Pueblo received its first priest in 1871. Five years later Colorado became the thirty-ninth state of the union.

Two years before the turn of the century the infant Pueblo Catholic high school, then known as St. Patrick high school, had its first graduation class.

The Catholic population of Pueblo increased through the years. In 1941 the Most Rev. Joseph C. Willging became the first bishop of the Pueblo diocese. Just seven years after his appointment he saw his way to the realization of his dream of a new and larger Catholic high school to accommodate the growing Catholic population. In 1950 the new Pueblo Catholic high school was finished.

Thus this great state of ours, rich in mineral products, rich in agriculture and industry, has seen vigorous growth in many fields. Not least has been its growth in the true Faith -- the Catholic Faith.

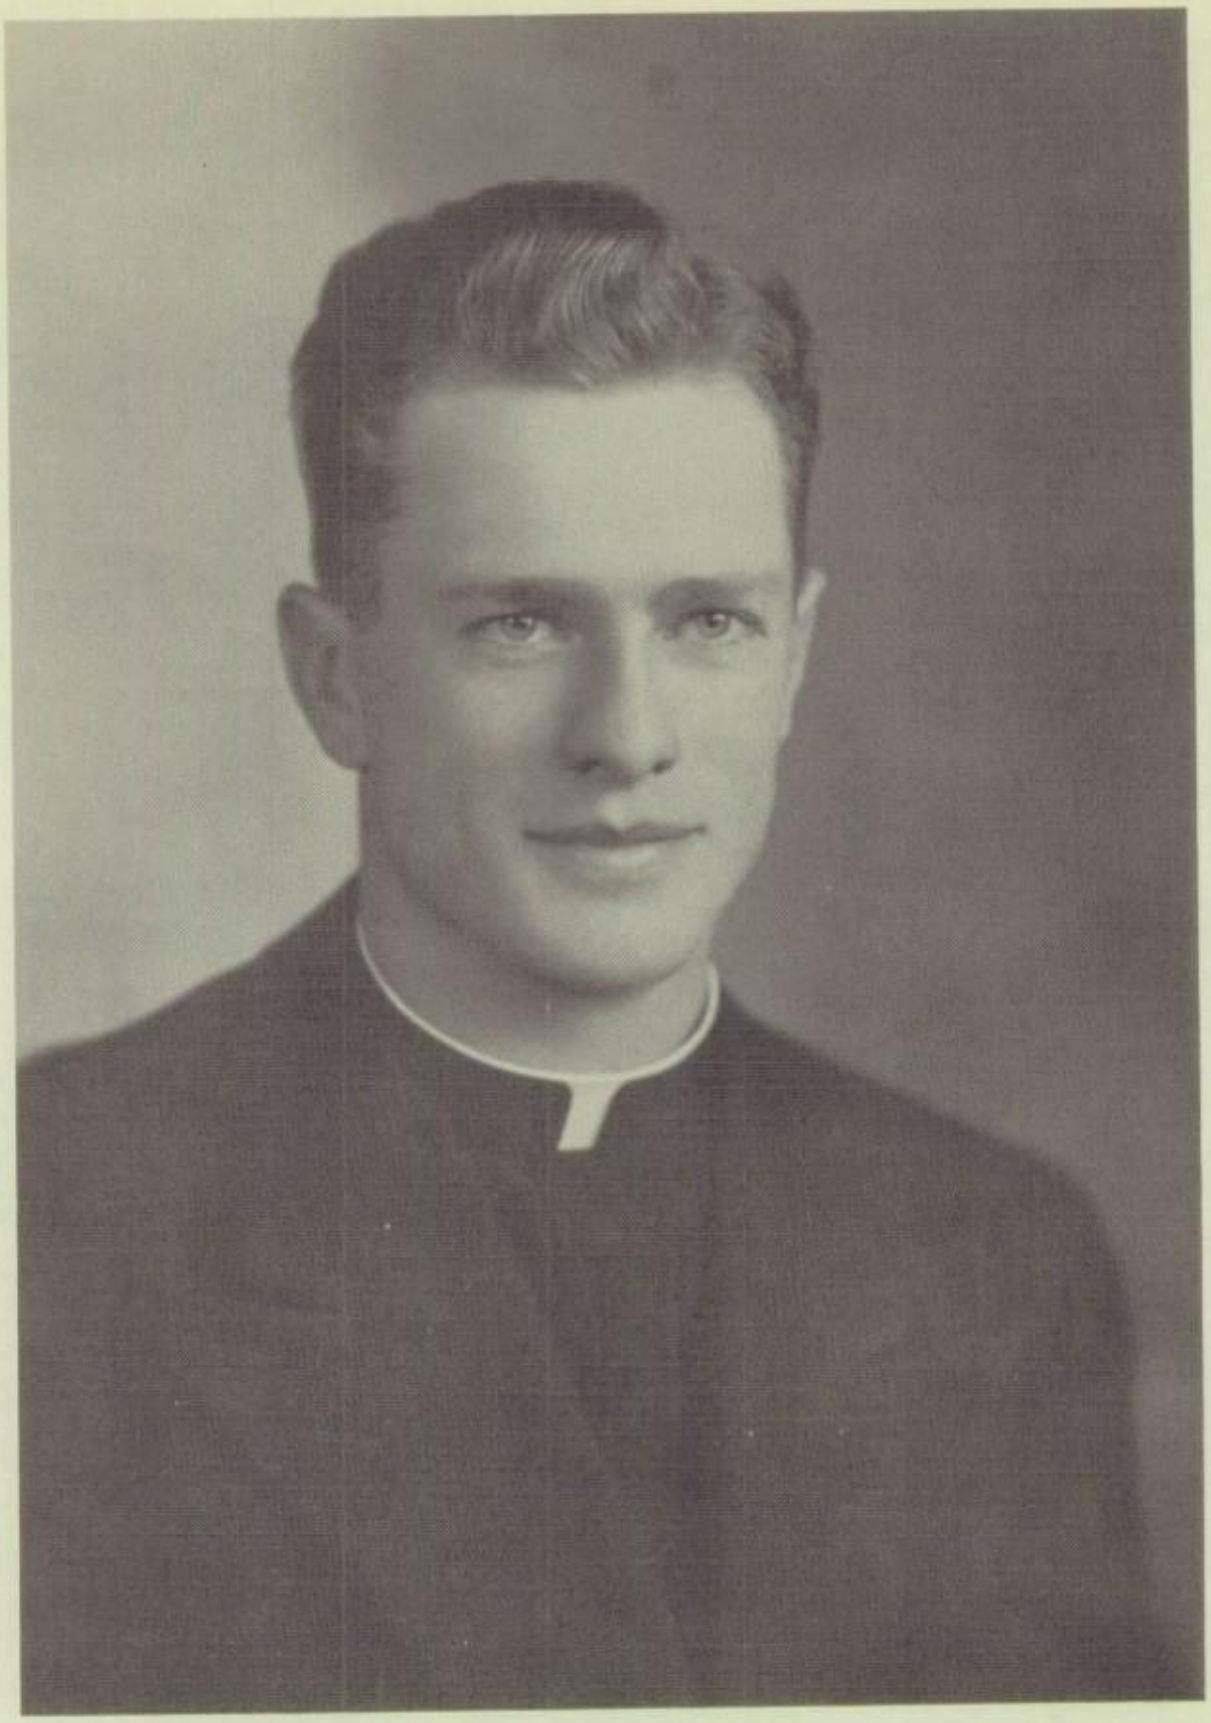
Open Letter

Dear Students,

Your earnest efforts toward high scholastic attaintment, your fine cooperative spirit in all activities, and your sincere religious attitude toward all things holy have made me proud and happy to be with you.

May God continue to bless you, making you good citizens of the State of Colorado and worthy citizens of His eternal Kingdom.

Sister Ellenora, Principal



The Rev. Elwood C. Voss, Superintendent

The years of Christ's youth were described by Saint Luke in the words, "And Jesus advanced in wisdom and age and grace before God and men." We who have been destined to direct this year of your life at Pueblo Catholic High School believe that the same words may be applied to you.

You have been reminded, and with reason, that every year of your life is important, for time should be measured with eternity as a background. As you grow in age, every experience that was yours during your high school days will possess greater significance in your own mind. You will realize more fully that the prayers you offered, the hours you spent in study, and the activities in which you participated were all a part of God's plan for your success in time and eternity.

May the school year of 1952-1953, which is portrayed in the pages ahead, be for you a treasured memory, a noble inspiration, and a true outline of your personal life.

Seeing God

In a special assembly for Education Week, students showed that God is the center of all our studies. Speakers included, left to right, Peggy Schum, Daphne Kletzky, Kathleen Sullivan, Arnold Langosh (speaking), James Burns and James Rodacy.

In Education

Senior finalists in the "Voice of Democracy" contest are Tom O'Nell, second place winner locally, Dianne Donahue and Anthony Oreskovich.

Patricia Mikus in the part of Lady Macbeth reproaches James Larkin, Macbeth: "When you durst do it, then you were a man!" -- Act I, Sc. 7. At right, Gordon Vidmar as Macduff has just received news from James Roark, Ross, of the treachery of Macbeth.-- "All my pretty ones? Did you say all?" --Act IV, Sc. 3.

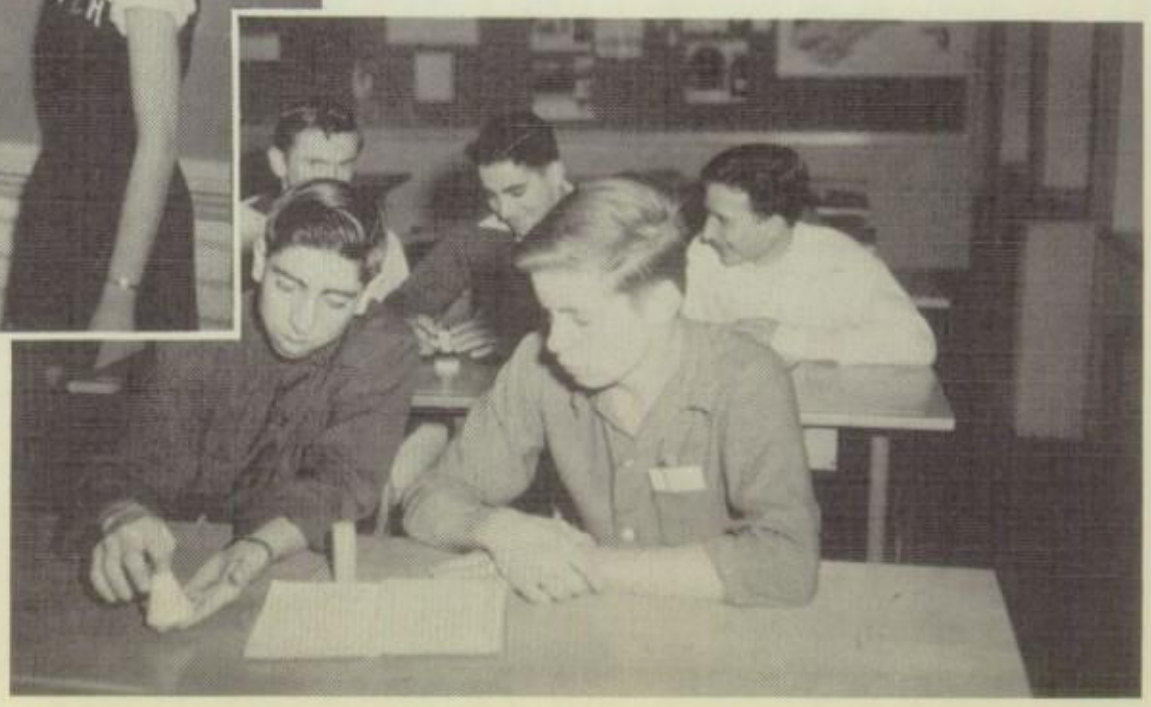
The Wheels of the World

Solid geometry is especially attractive to boys who plan to take up engineering or similar careers. Here Sister Eleanor Marie explains the properties of a cylinder, In her audience are, front to rear, James Roark, James Larkin, John Skube, Dan McGuire, John Oechsle, Charles Norick, Robert Slayden, Jack Culig, James Jagger, Bernard Vigil, George Vialpando, Tom Grant, John Butkovich and Dan Maloney.

"Prove it," says Arthur McKenna, as Sheila Marsden states that angle A equals angle D.



Bernard Vigil and Dan Maloney, front, work out a problem with a frustrum of a cone. Behind them Jack Culig, George Vialpando and John Butkovich discuss cylinders.

Are Run by Mathematics

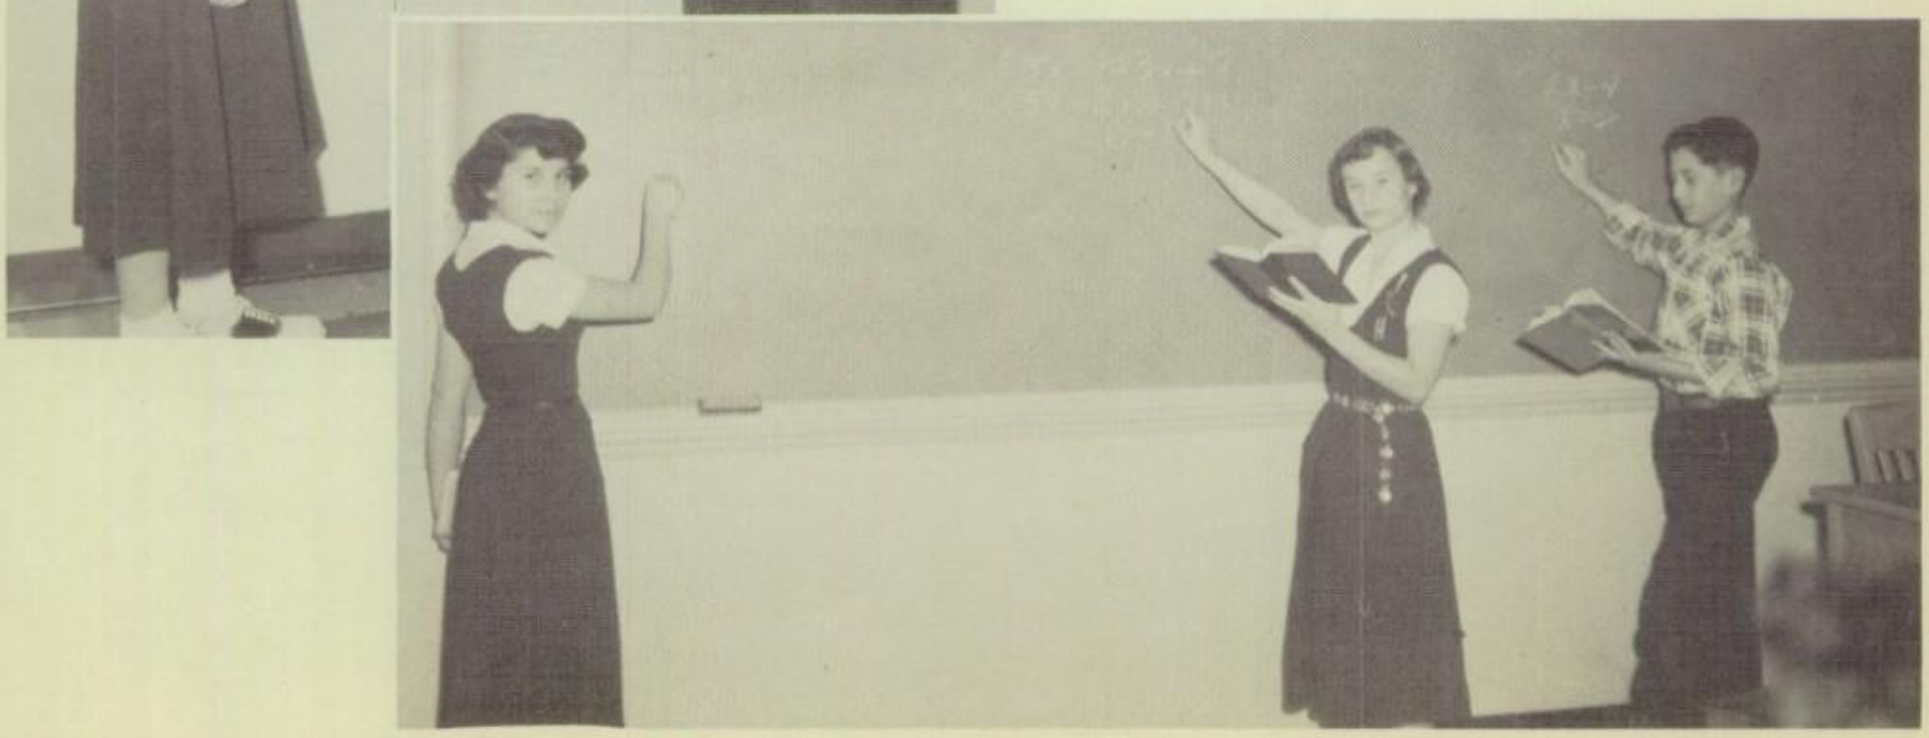
Shirley Ganatta and Alfred Kreusch work out a budget in general business.

"Are we right?" ask Dora Vigil, Barbara Lest and Anthony Capazzola as they try their hand at algebraic equations.



History Lives Again

'Beauty is Truth, Truth Beauty'

John Robida, Lyle Barger and Robert Cooper select a mat for use in the paper.

Joanne Sawyer, SHAMROCK Editor.

Foreign Languages

Advanced Latin students turned to the liturgy for a few days. Here Carl Skiff is putting the symbol of Christ on the board, while Adeline Herrera is writing a portion of St. John's gospel and Joanne Andrews is translating it.

Commercial

Michaelene Soldren and Peggy Schum take dictation in shorthand.

They Learn to Do by Doing

Larry Amman, Robert Ferriter, Jack Ballas and Dave Cardinal apparently find the study of weights and pullies an interesting part of physics.

Patricia Kocman gives a demonstration in general science which evidently interests her audience, Glen Stueve and Thomas Zupancic. Iris Widmar, insert, balances weights as her part in the demonstration.

Work with microscopes gives visions of a hidden world of biological phenomena. John Musso, Norma Jean Marrone, Richard Eurich, Ray Horvat, Gregory Roldan and Floyd Padula see that world and record their findings for future reference.

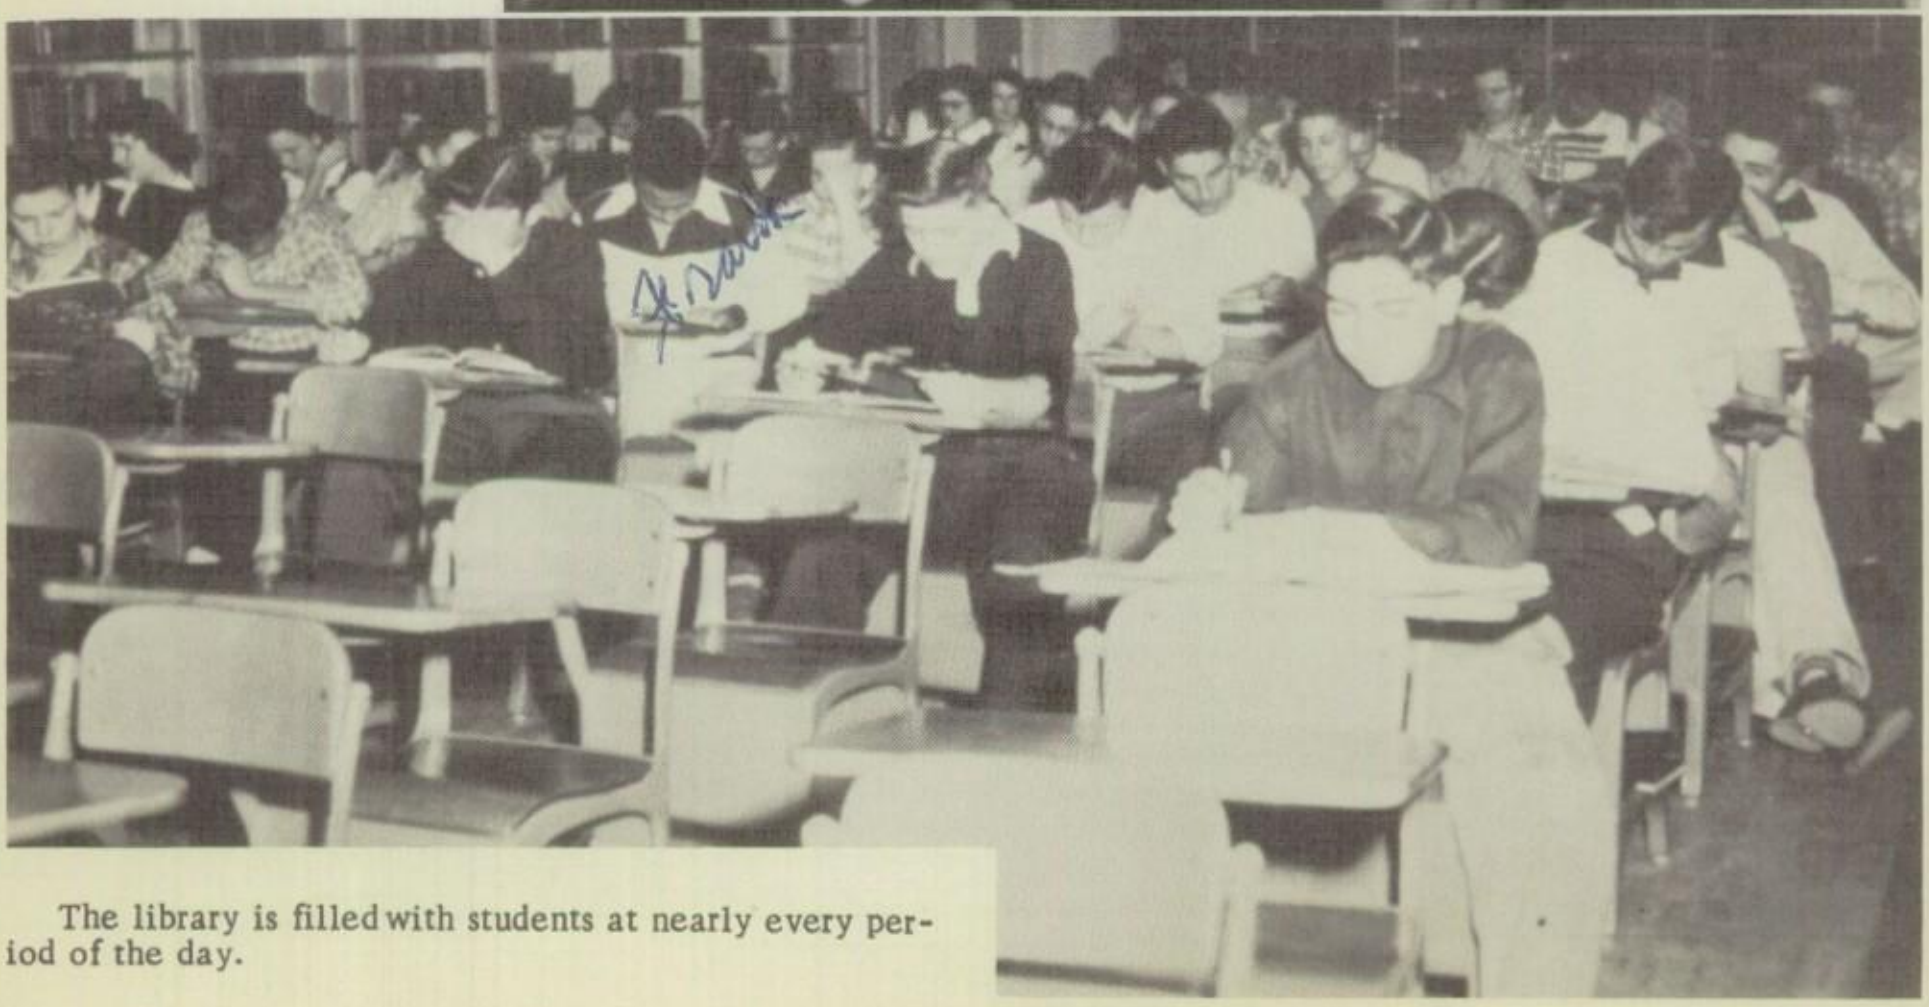
Home Economics

Members of the sewing class will soon be able to make all their own clothes. Here Connee Valdez, Wanda Perkovich, Jeanne Stueve, Mary Jo Kellner and Louise Bono are making pajamas. In the insert, Helen Singer puts in another seam.

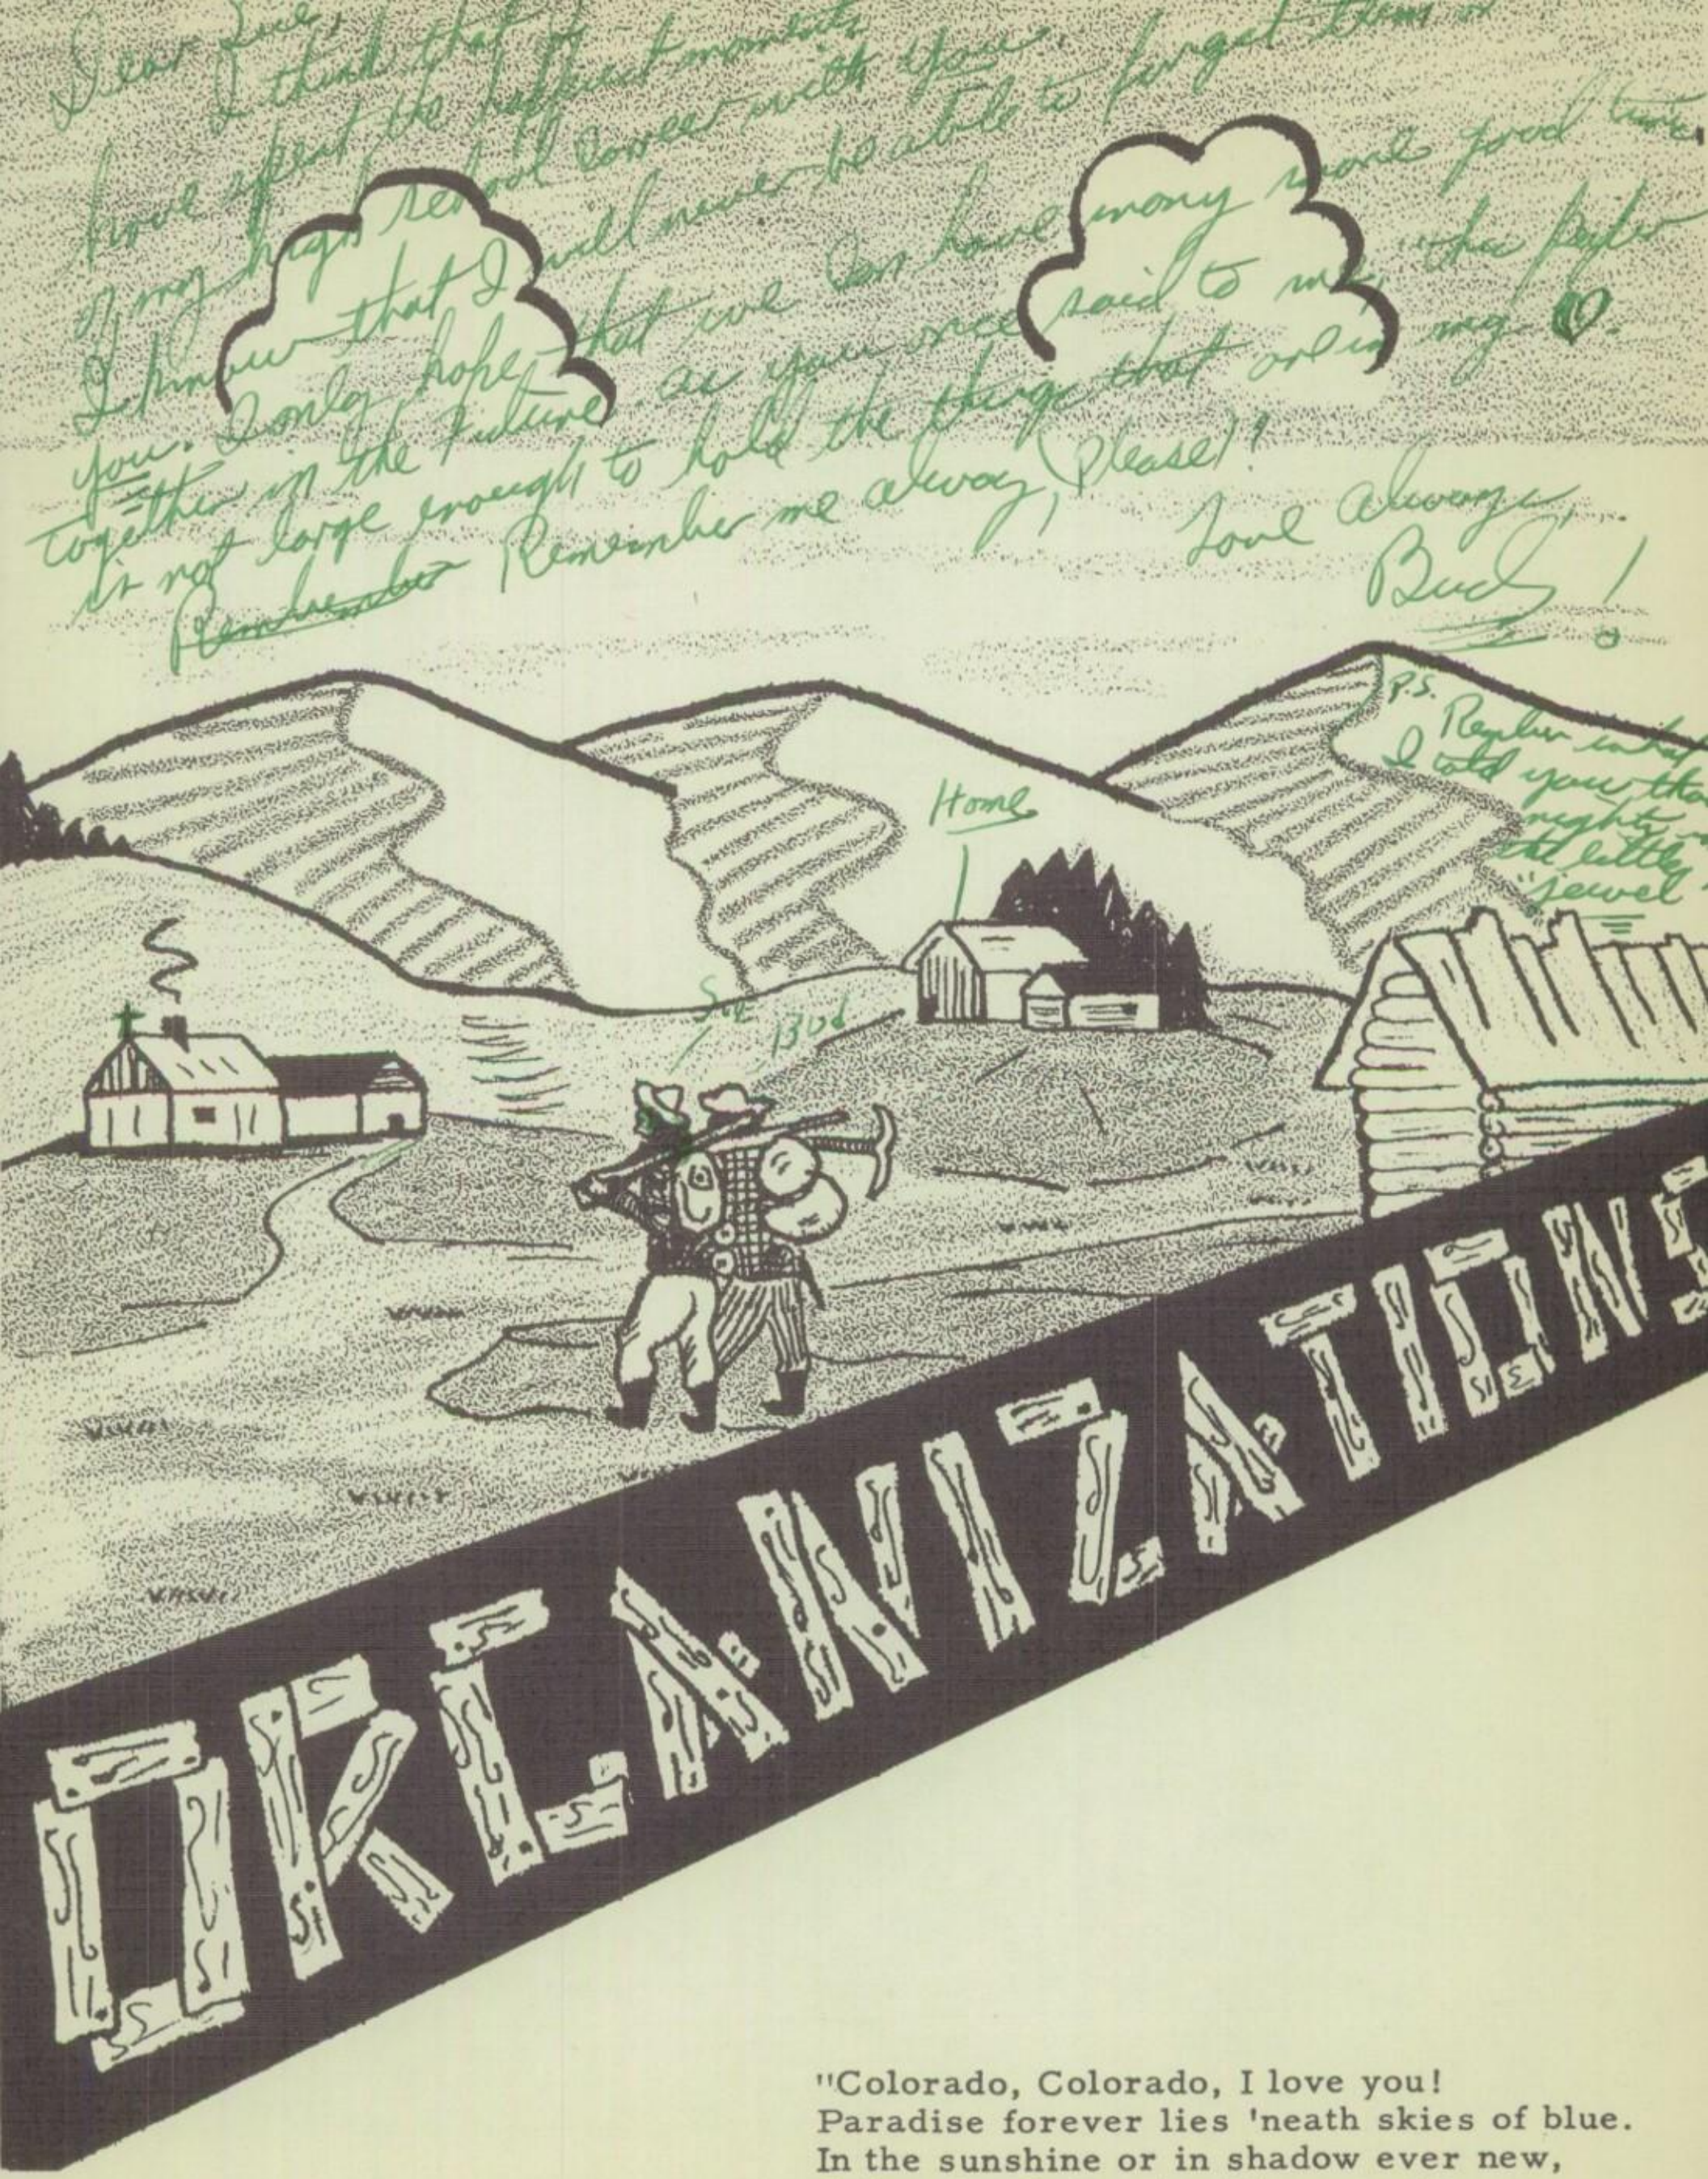
Library

Joyce Snyder, Mary Ann Baum and Carol Miklich make their selection of a book for their next book report.

Sister Ellenora, principal, shows Wanda Perkovich and Encarnacion Huerta a new book that has just been catalogued for the day.



The library is filled with students at nearly every period of the day.



"Colorado, Colorado, I love you!
Paradise forever lies 'neath skies of blue.
In the sunshine or in shadow ever new,
Colorado, Colorado, I love you!"
-- State song.

Student Council

Student Council representatives, according to an ammendment to the constitution, were selected last May, so the Council went to work early this year. After nominating eight of their group to run for office, they held a political convention, canvassed for votes, and conducted an election for the student body.

One of their big projects this year was an ad campaign to help finance the SHAMROCK. They divided the city into districts and put a "mayor" in charge of each district. Their work gave tangible assistance to the journalism class in producing this book.

'An Army of Youth Flying the Standards of Truth'

- - For Amber Waves of Grain'

Extra-Curricular Activities

"Cheer, Cheer, for Old Catholic High!"

Soloists for the occasion were Shirley Mauro, who played the violin, and Arnold Langosh, whose guitar selections carried the house. Eileen McDermott was accompanist for Shirley, and Ted Schmalz (not pictured) accompanied Arnold.

Here the class presidents----Jack Lacy, James Massara, Frank Ricotta and Anthony Oreskovich--pile gifts for the State hospital patients into the arms of Sister Ellenora, principal.

Homecoming Parade

Floats this year were made by the four classes and the alumni. In previous years the various organizations also sponsored floats in the Homecoming parade.

The freshmen copped first place with their float, "Hats Off to the Shamrocks." Sophomores took second place using the theme, "To Our Goal Through Mary." The junior float, which received third place, depicted a football surrounded by leprechauns, symbolizing the luck of the Irish.

The senior float was a tiger cage.

Her Royal Highness Rides Onto the Field

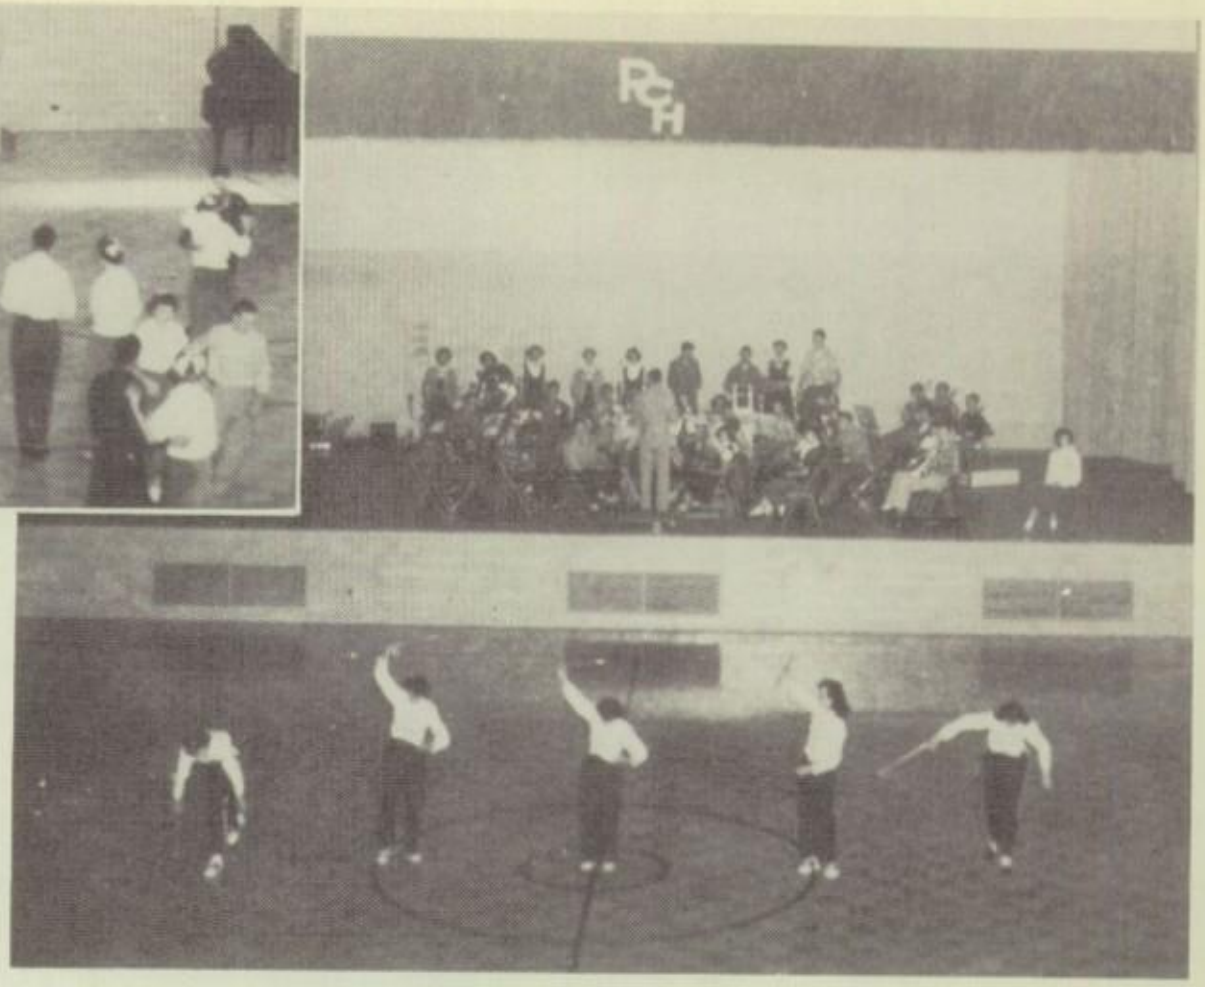
The afternoon's activities were highlighted by the game between the P. C. H. Shamrocks and the undefeated Holy Trinity Tigers. The game ended at a 6-6 deadlock.

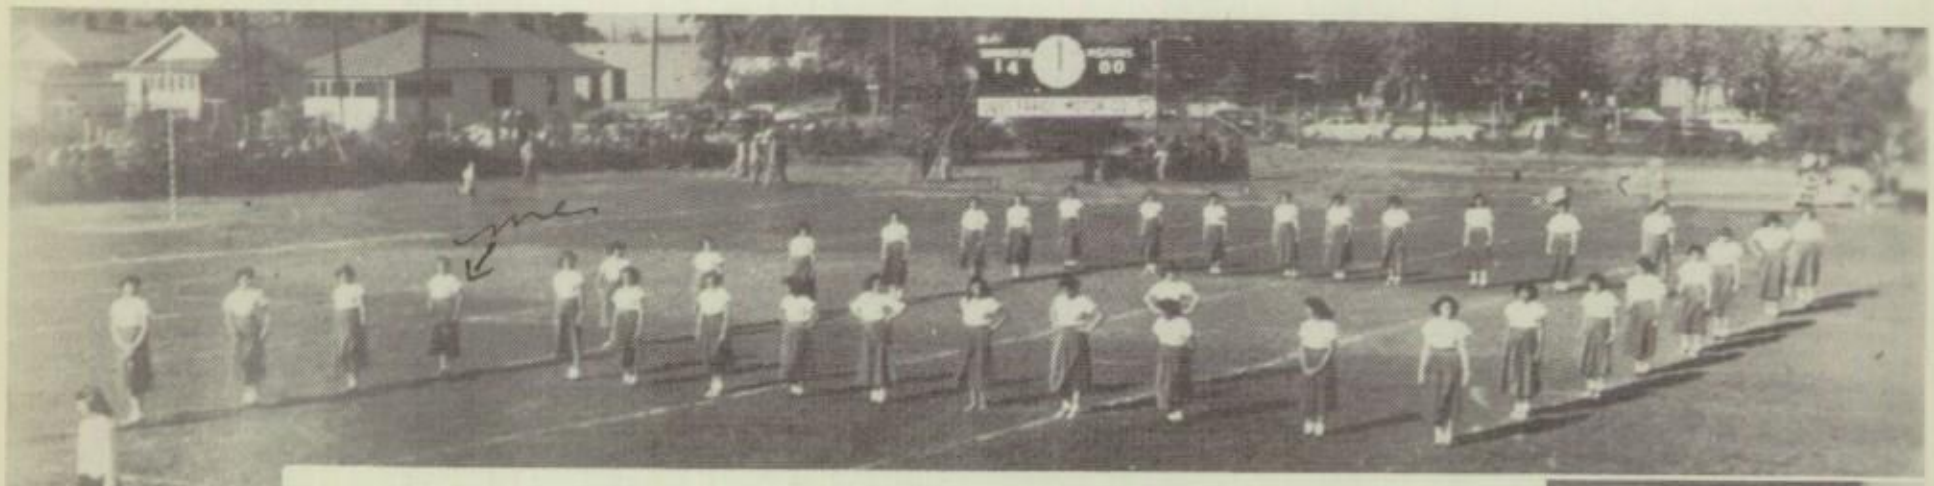
The Homecoming dance, sponsored by the alumni, climaxed the 1952 festivities.

Pep Club Formations

Students from Miss Nutt's dancing classes paced through some square dance formations before the assembled student body on the Friday before homecoming. Rain prevented their giving an exhibition of their spirit and skill on Stauter field on the big day.



Majorettes with their batons demonstrated their agility before the students and faculty. They were accompanied by the Shamrock band.



For the first time in the pep club's history, they formed letters and symbols as they greeted the opposing schools' cheering sections. Above is one letter of the abbreviation of Pueblo Catholic High. Below is the shamrock, symbol of the Irish, as it was shown at the Homecoming assembly.

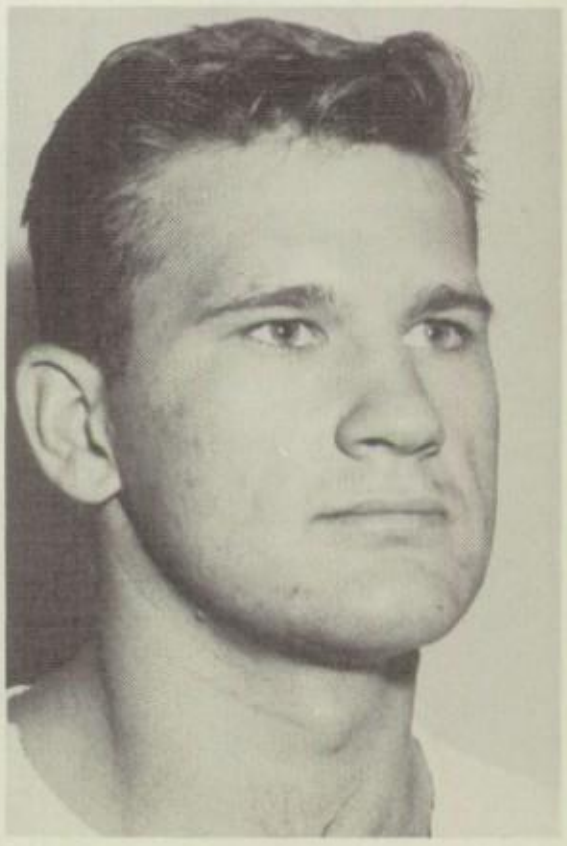
Football Roundup
1952

In his first year as coach of the Shamrocks, Michael Davlin tutored the Irish to a respectable season's record of five wins, three losses and one tie.

The Very Rev. Msgr. Patrick Stauter, Athletic Director, resigned this year after ten years of service to the Shamrocks. He was succeeded by the Rev. Louis Stovik.



Jack Parsons completed his second consecutive year as assistant coach of the Green and White eleven.

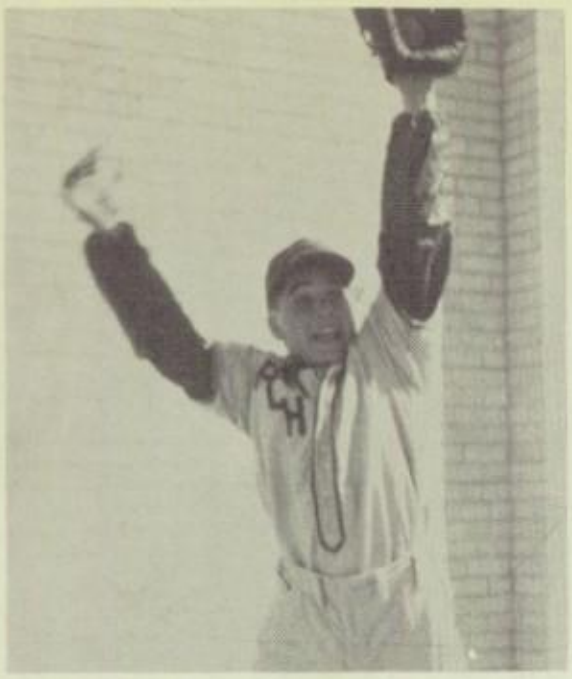
Baseball

Immediately following the basketball season Shamrock enthusiasts started limbering up their arms and sharpening their batting eyes for the baseball season. Led by their two mound stars, Joe Puleo and Jim Roark, the Irish nine were in quest of their third consecutive baseball crown. Besides playing each league team twice, the Green and White also encountered the Central and Centennial nine in games played at Runyon Field.



Anthony Oreskovich, hustling infielder on the Shamrock nine.

Pitchers Joe Puleo and Jim Roark blazed their first ball past the Irish opponents.

Second baseman Frank Ricotta completed a record year in the infield.

Veteran Jack Datz used his skill behind the plate, catching the Green and White pitches.

Ed Beauvais stretches for a low one from his first base position.

A CAREER WITH CF&I

Hi Sue,
I sure been nice knowing you this year. You are a very nice girl and I want to wish you the best of luck always.
Coke

There are opportunities for men with ambition at the Pueblo steel mills. Colorado's best working conditions are offered by CF&I where employees have the advantage of hospitalization for themselves and their families. There are liberal pension and and vacation plans and paid holidays.

The Minnequa works of CF&I is considered the cleanest and safest steel mill in the country.

Here is the chance for young men to take advantage of industrial opportunity. Consider a career with CF&I – the West's Pioneer Steelmakers!

Dear Susie
I hoped that one of these days we could have got together but I guess it wasn't meant to be. I'll always remember you as a friend. You're a real cute girl. Good luck always.
